

Longing Remembered

Written by Burton Beerman

Small, gentle breaths
Gentle eyes
Embarrassed by years
And shadows of undone deeds
Feeling much pain
And even more joy

Small, gentle gestures
Only that blood can share
With restrained excitement
Under the rough and torn Caring

Small, gentle eyes
Gentle breaths
Gone.