

This last year I almost died three times

Written by Burton Beerman

This last year I almost died three times
Due to no fault of my own
To this southern bred
The morning cold now is welcome
There is song in my children's smiles
And music in every breath